The Moqui-A New Race of Men in South

The Moqui-A New Race of Men in South America.

Prof. Newberry, it his paper, read before the American Scientific Association at Newport, R. I., gave a vivid description of the geographical features of the great plateaux sweeping cast and west from the Rocky Mountains, illustrated by colored drawings. His well-browned, ficreely-bearded face, gave evidence of the effects of the sun and winds on the vast treeless plains that skirt the Colorado. He incidentally gave a most interesting description of that strange people, the Moqui, whose cities he had seen in New Mexico, and but 'a small remnant of whom now exist, They belong to a hitherto unknown race. Prof. Newberry thinks they may be remains of the Astecs, who ruled that region on its discovery by the Spaniards. From the characteristics, however, of the melancholy remnant who now exist, it seems more probable that they are to be referred to the Toltecs, who were displaced by the Attecs.

Mr. Namberry described there are a professional services and the services of the services.

the Toltecs, who were displaced by the Axtecs.

Mr. Newberry described them as a race apparently entirely distinct from any other Indians on this continent. They are smaller, have a distinct conformation of skull and face, and are peaceful agriculturists. They weave cloth, work with implements of stone, and build towns of stone and mortar, on the mountain table-lands which rise eight hundred or one thousand feet above the lowland plateaux. They build walls round their town, and their only means of ingress and egress, is by ladders, which they draw after them when they enter town. There are seven of these small towns still inhabited by this fast-fading race. But their ruins extend over the whole valley of the San Juan—apparently ruins of a race once numbering millions of men—and many of them (the towns) five hundred or one thousand years old.

SERVANT MURDINGS HIS MOTHER, TWO BEOTH-RES, AND HIS MUTTERS.—Seldom do we re-ceive our files of English papers without finding in them the most shocking details of crime. The London Times of the 1st inst crime. The London Times of the 1st inst. comes to us with a report of one of the bloodiest deeds that ever appeared in the annuals of crime. The account is of a servant named John Gridley Youngman, who stands charged with the murder of Elizabeth Youngman, his mother, aged forty-six; Thomas Youngman, aged eleven; Rayson Youngman, aged six, his brother; and Mary Streeters, a young woman to whom he was naving man, aged six, his brother; and Mary Street-er, a young woman to whom he was paying his addresses. When brought into court Youngman was perfectly self-possessed and indifferent. He admits that he killed his mother, but says that she killed them and then stabbed at him, but he wrenched the knife from her grasp and killed her. He was remanded for trial.

The same paper contains an account of a most shocking child murder by a mother, and another story of the murder of a father by his son. The English have but little to boast of in the line of morality.

Horriste Drate From Hydrophonia.—
Thomas Dascomb, residing in Roxbury, Mass., died a day or two ago of hydrophobia. He kept a number of dogs, and about a week ago two of them, a female and one of her puppies, were playing rather roughly together, and he attempted to separate them. The mother of the puppy bit his wrist slightly, but he took no notice of it until Friday night last, when he woke up with a burning thirst, and endeavored to drink some water when he was seized with a violent spasm.

He spoke to his wife in relation to the dog biting him, and said he was sure he had been poisoned in some way, and thought he had been poisoned in some way, and thought he had the hydrophobia. He continued to grow worse, and barked like a dog, turded sumersaults in his bed with a strength which two men were unable to restrain, and after much suffering, died yesterday noon. The dog that bit him died a few days after giving the him.

It is stated that Mr. Dascomb did not have the wound cauterized until a day had elapsed. The symptoms before death were very severe, and left no doubt upon the mind of every one that it was a case of hydrophobia.

A WOMAN MISTAKES A HOOP SKIRT FOR A A WOMAN MISTARUS A HOOF SRITT FOR A BURGLAR.—The Webster (Penn.) Times says the neighborhood in the vicinity of its office was startled Sunday night by the shrill and piercing cry of somebody in distress, and thereby hangs a tale. It appears that a young lady had been aroused from her slumber about midnight by a noise at her open window. Half inclosing her eyes, she saw a corpulent form apparently struggling to gain admission to her chamber. Her first thought was to faint; her second to give the fellow a push; her third to jump out of the window as soon as he jumped in; her fourth to scream—which was immediately carried into effect. The old folks and every body else rushed to the rescue, when they discovered that the burglar, though somewhat imposing in size, was really a very harmless one, it being no other than the young lady's hoop-skirt on the windy side of the window, and fluttering in the night breeze.

Singular Literary Monomaria.—Formerly there lived in London, a goldsmith, Thomas Wirgman, who had a craze for publishing his own writings. He had the paper made expressly for him, so that each leaf in the book should have its own peculiar fint, and if the color of any sheet did not suit him when printed, he would destroy the whole issue and have a new lot of paper made. In this way he spent his fortune of $250,000.

A Dwelling and There Children Destrayed by Fire.—The house of G. Spandan, about half a mile from Victoria, Texas, was recently destroyed by fire, and three children consumed in the flames. Mr. Spandan and his wife were in the field some distance from the house when they discovered the conflagration. The children burned were aged one six, another four years, and the third sine months.

The Importance of Emphasis.—An elderly gentleman being ill, one of his friends sent a messenger with the assal Inquiry, which, however, he had not pronounced with due emphasis. "I'll thank yea to take my compliments, and ask how one Mr. W. is." The messenger departed on his errand, and speedily returned, saying, "He is just sixty-sight, six!"

Paorers or the Slave-Tane.—The net proceeds on a corpo of 500 slaves are, at the lowest estimate, $100,000, which is only an average profit of $200 per head. The sum total of the profits of the "Black-bird fleet of 100 vessels would therefore amount to $10,000,000, and this estimate haskes an alwance of $5,000,000 for expenses and los

GRAIN RECEIPTS AT UNICAGO.—The Chicago (III.) Desicerat says it is believed that the amount of grain which will be received at that point during the year commencing August 1, 1800, and unding July 31, 1801, will be 50,000,000 bushels. Of this about 25,000,000 bushels will be wheat.

The Baltimore Sun, of late date, has the following:

Quite a riot took place on board the steamer Great Eastern on Friday morning, in which several of those connected with the ship were pretty severely handled. From all the information that can be obtained, it appears that a large number of persons went down from the city, and there was complaint that some of the females were insulted by some of those belonging to the ship. There were then some words, but no blows, but all the indications were that a fight would take place, and many left the ship.

About half an hour after the first collision of words a female called upon Washington Goodrick for protection, staking that she had been insulted, and pointed out the party, who, it seems, was one of the officers of the ship. Goodrick asked him what he meant by insulting ladies, to which an unsatisfactory reply was made, and which was followed by a fight. Goodrick first struck the man, and then butted him several times. This attracted the attention of several others belonging to the ship, and they attempted to protect their officer, when they too were beaten. The affair was of but a few minutes' duration, though sanguinary while it continued.

A few minutes after the above affray, another female was insulted grossly by another of the ship's company, when Mr. John Lutz, who was standing near, witnessed it, and knocked the fellow down and administered to him a severe beating. On the ship no particulars could be obtained of the affair, and to him a severe beating. On the ship no par-ticulars could be obtained of the affair, and the above is the information of those who were present and witnessed the whole trans-

PRCULIARITIES OF THE ENGLISH NATIONAL ACCOUNTS.—The European Times learns from the accounts of the past financial year that the annuities of the Royal Family amounted to £143,788, including the charge of £50,000 a year to the King of the Belgians. Among the political pensions are payments of £2,000 a year to Mr. D'Israeli, Sir G. Grey and Lord Glenleg, on retirement from the Cabinet. There are five pensions of £5,000 a year to Ex-Lord Chancellors, and six of £3,500 to English Ex-Judges and an Ex-Vice-Chancellor. This is a very long list of compensations charged upon the Consolidated Fund, some of them remarkable for the length of time they have been paid, for among the beneficiaries are the door-keeper and house-maid of the Irish House of Lords. Other cases are conspicuous for the amount charged, for there is a round sum of £130,-000 a year for officers of the late Ecclesiastical and Prerogative Courts. The Earl of Ellenborough takes £7,700 a year, as having once been Chief Clerk of the Court of Queen's Bench; the Rev. T. Thurlow has £4,038 annually for being deprived of the office of Keeper of the Hanaper, and Lord Avonmore £4,200 as retired principal Registrar of the Irish Court of Chancery. car of the Irish Court of Chancery.

Saving a Rapt prom the Rapids.—A raft went over the Lachine Rapids on Friday night, and arrived at Montreal safe next morning. The foreman intended passing the night at Chateauguay Basin, as is usual, but a strong wind springing up, they were blown into the channel, and found themselves opposite Caughnawaga at twelve o'clock. With coolness and presence of mind, they sent on shore, got up the Indian pilots, and made such an organization of their small force as brought in eleven drams in perfect safety, not leaving one piece. On every previous occasion of the kind, the men have left their rafts to their faty. This is the first instance on record of a large raft running the Lachine Rapids by night, without going to pieces.

A Huge Black-make Killen —A few days ago a black-snake, eleven feet in length, was killed in Gwynedd Township, Penn. It had been seen at intervals for several years, but the statement in regard to its length was discredited. It was shot by a person who was out hunting woodcock, and until he saw the monster did not believe there was so large a snake in the State. It is said to have belonged to the anaconda species, and could

A Most Unfortunate Girl.—A Miss Emily audrus, of Smithville, N. Y., was so terribly Andrus, of Smithville, N. Y., was so terribly burned a few days since by her clothes taking fire when passing a stove, that her life is despaired of. About two years since she was supposed to be fistally injured by being thrown out of a carriage, and three or four years before that was seriously injured when on a hand car which was run down by a locomotive. Two or three of her companions on that occasion were killed.

A KRIPE THROWS ENTIRELY THROUGH A BUTCHER'S BODY.—Two butchers, named Allen and McCoy, got into an altercation at Memphis, Tenn., on Wednesday, when the latter seized a knife and hurled it at his retreating antagonist with such force that the weapon, entering his side beneath the rils, went through the body and came out in front. Allen can not recover.

Mrs. Mary Gurney Repents.—The New York Tribune credits the rumor that Mrs. Gurney has become sick of her wretched intrigue, has discarded her groom, and is now living reputably in the family of an English elergyman in Paris. We presume it is also true that she has written to England, begging to be forgiven and received back by her relatives.

AN ILL WIND, ETC .- The trial of Old John AS ILL WIND, Frc.—The trial of Old John Brown was a good thing for Mr. Hunter, the prosecuting officer. The Richmond (Va.) Whig states that he received $1,500 for his professional services, and $150 for the rent of his office, which was for a short while occupied as a barracks by some of the State troops.

A Large Froq.—A frog was killed in Center Croton, Mass., a short time since, while attempting to awallow a chicken three weeks old. The frog measured nineteen inches in length. What a breakfast half a dozen such fellows would make.

A STEAMBOAT DISASTER TO BE INVESTIGATED, The Houston (Texas) Telegraph learns that the President of the New Orleans and Texas Railway Company has left there for New Orleans, to investigate the affair of the blowing up of the steamer La Crosse. He thinks there must have been foul play in the matter.

As Oscanic Dipriculty.—An Irishman in Boston pushed an organ-grinder from the sidewalk. A row followed and in a short time a crowd of Irishmen and Italian organ-grinders were fighting. Knives and other weapons were freely used, and several per-sons seriously injured.

ARBSENERTS OF COLLEGE STUDENTS.—A party of students in the Williston Academy, Eaghampton, put aquantity of powder under an outbouse, and blew it up, about five o'clock on Monday morning, with a terrible noise, which startled the town and shattered the windows in the academy building.

MAN ASSAURNATED IN THE PASSENCE OF His FAMILY.—W. C. Haltree, living a few miles below the city of Natchez, was shot a few nights since, while sitting on his gallery with his family, and instantly killed. The Error or the Taxay Daouth.—It is said that the drouth in Texas is so general and so extreme that the large emigration flowing into the State has been checked, and many familles from Alabama and other Southern States are returning to their former

A Haman Demon Nearty Murders Several Persons and is Shot Dead by a Mob.

We have rarely heard of a more diabolical outrage than the one perpetrated a few days since, eight miles above Morristown, Tenn., and two miles above Russelville, in Hawkins County. A man by the name of Joshus Ballard armed himself with a scythe-blade, and started from his home with the intention of murdering some person. The first man he encountered was a Mr. Bewley; but it appears that Bewley escaped without material injury. He then went to the house of a Mr. Horner, and told him he intended to kill him, and commenced cutting him with his seytheand told him he intended to kill him, and commenced cutting him with his scythe-blade. Horner received eight severe wounds upon the head and other parts of his person. We are informed he can not possibly survive. Ballard then went to the house of a Mrs. Robinson; she saw him coming and closed the door. Ballard, however, broke the door down, went in, hauled her from under the bed, and inflicted several severe wounds upon her; she, by some means, escaped from him. Not satisfied, he commenced upon two of her children, inflicting several gashes upon her, she, by some means, escaped from him. Not satisfied, he commenced upon two of her children, inflicting several gashes upon their bodies.

By this time several of the neighbors collected to take him; but Ballard swore he would not be taken, and started in a run for his home; he was botly pursued, however, and barely reached his house, and secreted himself in the cabin loft, when he was fired upon through the cracks between the logs. There was a baz of cotton in his loft, which he used to screen himself from the bullets, and our informant, a gentleman of reracity, says, that some seventy-five shots were fired, before he was killed. He stood and cursed his pursuers till he fell dead. His mother also stood in the yard during the time, swearing she would send the whole party to h—l before she was done with them.
Ballard was a desperate character, addicted to strong drink and all kinds of dissipation. He was the champion of the neighborhood, and most men were afraid to encounter him single handed.

PROBABLE EXHAUSTION OF THE SUPPLY OF PREUVIANBARK.—A gentleman long resident in South America states that there is some danger that the supplies of that very useful medical drug, Peruvian bark, and the still more useful sulphate of quinine obtained from it, may soon be exhausted. The cinchona, the tree which yields the bark, grows at a liberal hight on the slopes of the Andes, in various localities from Bolivar to New Grenada. In the latter country it is found on the central branch of the Cordillers, and the two best varieties have hitherto been those of Pitayo and Fanaganga, two New Granadian alpine districts. But these are already exhausted, and both in this country and England another and poorer kind, known as Almaguer bark, which was at first totally unsalable, is now used to a very great extent.

The price of the best importations in the London market has gone up, within a few years, from 1s. 8d. per pound, to 2s. 6d. and 3s., while the Almaguer, for a long time relased by the dealers, is now readily purchased at 1s. 4d. A single tree yields from ten to forty arrobas, and it is calculated that it will take at least fifty years for the shoots of the destroyed tree to attain a middling size. The supplies from Bolivia, however, continue to maintain the highest rank, both in regard to quantity and quality. PROBABLE EXHAUSTION OF THE SUPPLY in regard to quantity and quality.

The Sisybian Toil of Editorial Life.—
The New Orleans correspondent of the Charleston (S. C.) Courier, noticing the subsidence of business during the hot months, says that the only noticeable exception is that of the press, which, of course, never knows relaxation. That is a routine, he remarks, that is always beginning and never ending. Shops may be closed, stores may put up their shutters, courts may adjourn, lawyers may placard their office doors with intimations that they are out of town, and will be 'back in the fall," ships and stesmers may lie up in ordinary, hotels may close, and even the Common Council may adjourn "till this day four months," the Mayor, in the interim, deputing some "can't-get-away" Alderman to act in his place while he goes a pleasuring—but there is no such luxury for the working editor of the daily press.

The people, though they may submit to the deprivation of the usual facilities of litigation, or legislation, or trade, or pleasure, will ion, or legislation, or trade, or pleasure, wil and consent to forego their newspaper, and so the mill must still grind on, and, though the "grinders are few," they must produce the daily grist. And in these dull times, too! When there is so little happening, and so little to talk or write about! The full tale of brick must be supplied. though there be no brick must be supplied, though there be no straw to make it with.

ABAMA.—The Mobile (Ala.) Tribune of a late

The yield of the vineyards in the neighborhood of Citronelle, and elsewhere in the county of Mobile, from all that we can learn, has been very encouraging. Dr. Borden, near Citronelle, made 200 gallons of wine from one acre of vines. Other private vineyards, to which less attention had been given, have been proportionally successful.

yards, to which less attention had been given, have been proportionally successful.

The Mobile Wine Company, which was organized only about a year ago, and, of course, had only young vines from which nothing was expected this season, has, nevertheless, turned out sixteen gallons—enough, as our informant remarked, to enable the stockholders, at their next annual meeting, to drink their own wine.

Sailing and Steaming Qualities of the Great Eastern.—The Great Eastern, on her return from Chesapeake Bay, left Annapolis at seven P. M. on Saturday, the 11th inst., and arrived off Cape Henry at ten minutes past four A. M., where she stopped ten minutes to land the pilot, and arrived off the Hook at noon on the 12th. The distance run from Annapolis to Cape Henry is 160 nautical miles; time occupied, nine hours and ten minutes, or about 17.4 nautical miles an hour. The distance run from Cape Henry to her position off the Hook at noon is 253 nautical miles; time occupied, nineteen hours and forty minutes, or about 12.8 nautical miles an hour. Allowing one knot an hour for a southerly current from Cape Henry up to the Hook, it will give the ship's speed as nearly 13.8 nautical miles an hour. She had head winds all the way. head winds all the way.

MINIMATERIOUS BROUSET TO A COLLEGE—A SECRET FOR A CENTURY.—The Treasurer of Amherst College, Mass., has lately received from Daniel Sears, of Boston, a heretofore liberal benefactor of the College, a small and carefully scaled box, with the instruction that it is not to be opened for 100 years, on pain of a forfeiture of the gift which it contains. Speculation is at fault as to the contents and the reasons for the accompanying condition. The shrwedest guess is that the box holds deeds of real estate in Boston, now under lease for 100 years, but then to be transferred to the College.

Falting off in the Salt Trans.—The Syracuse (N. Y.) Standard learns, from a reliable source, that thus far this year the inspection of salt is not one-half that of last year. The sales of salt, so far, will not pay the salaries of the officers and the current expenses of the Salt Company. Unless the harvest West increases the demand for salt, there is no probability of there being made over 1,000,000 barrels—a trifle over one-half of the amount which was marketed last year.

Since this disturbance was quelled, the Protestants have been driven from two other quarters of the city, and to prevent further outrages the Government had suspended Protestant worship. The Turkish Government, however, denies that Protestantism was really at the bottom of the outbreak, but that it was got up by Russian influence for the purpose of creating a collusion between the soldiers and the Christian population.

A meeting had been held of all Protestant Embassadors, who sent an earnest and decisive protest to the Porte. On the day following this protest, the American residents at Constantinople received a formal notice from their Minister, to move with the greatest caution, as further disturbance was imminent.
